ALABAMA STATE TREASURY IS SAID TO BE ALMOST EMPTY

Montgomery, Ala., March 27.—(U. P.)—The Alabama State Treasurer, J. G. Oakes, has ascertained the approximate amount of the shortage in the office of James G. Oakes, deceased president of the Alabama Coal and Iron Co., but no figures have been given out. It was stated it was possible the total amount will not be made public for some time yet. No reason was assigned for withholding these totals.

It is reported, however, that the amounts are being made for settlements with some of the banks. J. P. Kennedy, President of the Alabama Bank and Trust Co., accompanied by his attorney, called on the Governor today. Other bankers have been conferring with the Governor and his legal advisers during the last few days.

The Top Scales All Right Scales and weighing machinery at Pitt Top Mines, operated by the Glassfield Company, are in good order and no under weighing has been discovered, according to J. J. Gorman, Treasurer of Public Accounts, who returned to Montgomery today.

The Examiner has just finished checking over the accounts of the Pitt Top in connection with the investigation of the convict there. Major Gorman's report will be interesting, but, however, according to information obtained this morning, there are 100 state convicts and 100 county convicts employed at Pitt Top.

Major Gorman also examined at the mine at Wetumpka, and will file a report of his inspection with Governor O'Neil tomorrow.

Mining contractors will be called to the witness stand in the convict probe today. Special counsel for the state would not give out the names of the men who will appear before the investigators, but it is understood George H. McGovern and W. Lee Gibson of Birmingham will be the first witnesses.

Mr. McGovern, temporary president of the convict bureau, declined today everything in the department is running smoothly. Mr. McGovern conferred today with several of the witnesses from the prison.

WILL OAKLEY HAVE HIS TRIAL ON FRIDAY?

Montgomery, Ala., March 27.—(U. P.)—James G. Oakley, the deceased president of the convict bureau, and charged with embezzlement of the state funds, will have his preliminary trial today, set for 10 o'clock, before Judge M. H. Seaves. Oakley's attorney, Mr. J. H. Seaves, said that Mr. Oakley will waive preliminary hearings, and wait until the Montgomery county grand jury meets to investigate the charges against him. On the other hand, it is rumored that Mr. Oakley has retained an attorney of counsel and will be ready when the case is called today. Mr. Oakley is now under a $50,000 bond.

been hand-lined by water in liquid. Oakley, and his attorney, the Capital City. It is stated that he has already returned to the State Prison and will be in the preliminary trial. It is reported that Oakley will probably be in Birmingham with his family.

If the Oakley case goes out, it will probably require seven days to complete the taking of testimony. A number of witnesses will undoubtedly be examined by both sides.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Lacquered brass can be cleaned by washing in hot water, and a little soap may be added if necessary.

Chocolate made before the guests arrived and put in the fireless cooker was piping hot two hours later, when it was served.

Every kitchen should have strips of carpet placed on the floor. Rug rugs are the very best to buy, as these wash well and last for years.

Olives, stoned and chopped and mixed with fresh butter or heavy cream, and cream cheese make one of the most delicious of sandwich fillings.

If a pair of shoes has become stiffened with walking in the wet, the shoes should first be washed with warm water and then have oil well rubbed into them.

A simple and excellent way to remove dirty marks from a raincoat is to cut a raw potato in slices and rub it well on the marks. It will also remove mud stains from dress skirts, children's coats and men's trousers.

To mend a slightly broken plaster article make a solution of camphor and alcohol thickened with shellac. This must be applied hot to the edges of the pieces to be cemented, and the pieces must be held together until the liquid has cooled and hardened.
